Pickles' postcode fury

JOINING FORCES: Mr Pickles and Northampton MP Michael Ellis are calling for the name of Druids Way to be changed because another street in the same postcode has the same name

A street naming farce which has led to two streets having the same name and postcode in Northampton has been slammed as 'ludicrously stupid' by Communities Secretary Eric Pickles.

The Conservative minister visited residents in Druids Way in Parklands last week after Daventry District Council granted permission to give a street on a housing estate just two miles away in Moulton the exact same name.

He said: "This situation is beyond ludicrous."

"The part of being a council is that you've got to serve the people."

"This is a stupid ludicrous decision, and the way to change that is to rename."

"This will become more and more embarrassing. The people behind this decision are starting to look like buffoons."

Charity: don't give money to poor on street

BY LAWRENCE JOHN
lawrence.john@hpnorthants.co.uk

Christmas shoppers in Northampton are being asked to think twice about giving money to beggars as they could be killing with their kindness.

Local homeless charities are joining other agencies in Northampton town centre today, to launch an annual appeal with this hard hitting message.

Charities from Oasis House, housing support and community safety staff from Northampton Borough Council and officers from the police will be in the Grosvenor Centre to raise awareness of the issue of homelessness and how money given to beggars is likely to be used to fuel a drink or drug habit which stops them from getting the help they need.

Theresa Kelly, manager of the Northampton Association of Accommodation for Single Homeless said: "Street beggars tend to already receive benefits and will use the money they are given to fund an addiction. It is just a vicious circle really. This is why we ask people not to give to beggars."

Camera shows us that nothing is as strange as reality

I was watching the TV show Britcam the other night.

It has been inspired by the fact that small bodyworn or car mounted cameras are now capturing more and more of the real dramas of everyday life.

Police, rescue workers and even cabbies to produce as evidence should they need it.

I've got one of these little cameras myself and they are great fun.

I like to get out on my mountain bike and believe me I have got hours of shaky footage of me coughing my way up hills and veering unexpectedly into bushes.

So much for the civilian use for the technology.

On Britcam it allowed the work of a Northamptonshire PC who was attending various domestic incidents around the county to be viewed in an unobtrusive way.

He was a former Royal Engineer and a fairly big lad.

Watching him in action it was quite satisfying to think that he was confronting some of the men who hit women

What the camera showed best of all was his skill in defusing volatile situations

(and, when it occurs, the women who hit men) and allowing his physical presence to help people rethink their attitude to violence.

What the camera showed best of all, however, was his skill in defusing volatile situations and persuading people not to make these situations worse.

One male resident who had used up all his chances and was being removed from his home had this PC to thank for being able to take one of his prized possessions with him.

With his life potentially being turned on its head this man was upset but was calmed down by one thing.

A bit of patient negotiating with the man's partner resulted in the evictee being allowed to take his Playstation 4 games console away with him.

There's nothing really quite as strange as real life ...

Silent night for carol singers...

BY NICHOLAS BIEBER
nicholas.bieber@hpnorthants.co.uk

A Northampton band has banned Christmas carols from its festive show because 'people are too embarrassed to sing in public'.

Silent Night, Hark the Herald Angels and other traditional carols have been removed from the Northampton Concert Band for its annual concert.

The 50-piece band scrapped the tunes after audience members felt 'press-ganged' last year into singing the carols.

The feedback came in a survey which was put to the audience members at the end of last year's show, where they were asked to highlight the items in the programme they enjoyed the most.

The results showed that all the audience carols in the concert scored consistently low with only 40 per cent of respondents saying they would want to hear them again.

ALL IS CALM: Carols dropped as people are too embarrassed to sing

So, as a result, the group's Christmas concert at The Holy Sepulchre Church on December 13 will instead feature two hours of its trumpets, bassoons and trombones this year with no call for the 160-strong audience to take part.

Brian Crutchley,

Concerts Manager said, "I can understand that a lot of people do not enjoy singing in public."

"The decision to drop the carols now leaves room for other popular music for our audience to listen to."

"If people want to sing carols they're better off going to a carol service."

Missing parrot flies 35 miles away

A parakeet which has been missing from a Northampton home for 14 months has been spotted 35 miles away in Luton.

Sarah Wheeler, whose three-year-old nephew owns the parakeet, named Peppa, has urged anyone who may have seen her to come forward and help her return the bird to her nephew. Peppa went missing from a house in the Grange Park area of Northampton on September 5 last year and is now said to be in the Luton area, having been spotted in Milton Keynes earlier this year.

Peppa is blue with dark jade feathers on the edges of her wings and has a red beak. If you see Peppa call Sarah on 07527 691675.

Two world premieres in the 2015 season

Royal and Derngate artistic director James Dacre talks to H&P editor Steve Scoles about the 2015 season of Northampton made drama ...

Northampton audiences are being offered the theatrical equivalent of unearthed treasure next year in a season of productions that will feature two world premieres.

The stage version of sci-fi classic Brave New World and a lost Arthur Miller television play called The Hook will both debut at Royal and Derngate under the Made in Northampton marque.

But artistic director James Dacre says theatre goers will be treated to a whole season of enriching works with local connections or which chime with issues the area is currently facing.

"We're announcing eight productions and that will include six new commissions and work that premieres here in Northampton after opening here will travel to 24 cities nationwide. We're trying to capture the range and passion of work that goes on here in this very ambitious and epic season.

"Some of our largest ever acting companies will transport

Northampton all the way to the 12th century of King John and his court and all the way forward to the Brave New World of 2540.

"Really whenever and wherever we are setting these pieces of work we think they speak very meaningfully to the experience of life in Britain today. Those classic stories can be told in an imaginative new way that is relevant to people living in this region," said James, who introduced the new season to the theatrical media this week.

Royal and Derngate are not only being innovative with the staging of the productions (including collaboration with highly rated musicians These New Puritans in Brave New World and putting Shakespeare's King John on in the Holy Sepulchre Church) but they have also thought outside the box with the material they have selected.

The stage rights to Brave New World were acquired from the Huxley estate despite Hollywood director Ridley Scott sitting on the movie rights for his own project.

It gives Royal and Derngate the opportunity to premiere a true sci-fi classic based on the world famous 1932 Aldous Huxley novel.

James said: "It has been adapted by an exceptional young writer called Dawn King. It is at its heart a play about relationships. Ridley Scott has held the rights for an awful long time so we are the thrilled that the estate have given us the rights to perform this on stage. It took perseverance. We really believe in it."

Less glamorously but equally significant was the painstaking accumulation of Arthur Miller scripts by James for The Hook.

"To mark the centenary of Arthur Miller's birth we will be premiering his play for the screen The Hook. It was a piece that was suppressed by the FBI during the politically volatile McCarthy years of 50s America. They thought it could create real civil unrest in New York's docklands in the way it depicts the story of a man prepared to challenge the authorities but also the relationship in a close knit community between individuals and industry.

"It's a great passion project of mine that I have worked for years to assemble different typewritten transcripts of The Hook. We have commissioned the very prolific Emmy award winning writer Ron Hutchinson to, using every one of Arthur Miller's words, render it for the stage. We believe it needs to open in this town because of the meaningful ways in which it depicts themes of industry and immigration within a close knit community," said James, adding that the piece will go on to play in Liverpool.

Other highlights for the season ahead include the staging of Shakespeare's King John at the Holy Sepulchre Church, a production of Gaslight and the great romantic adventure Cyrano de Bergerac.

See full details of the season on our website.

Birds in our gardens this Christmas time...

Here is a list of five birds to expect a visit from in our gardens this winter. Have you spotted them?

The robin is the most frequently spotted winter garden bird. Robins occasionally nest in a dense hedge or an open fronted nest box. They are mainly insect feeders, so a garden managed organically will enable them to find the food they need.

2

The Blue Tit is naturally a woodland bird, but adapts well to using our gardens. This species will be attracted to a garden with lots of small insects. Being very agile, blue tits can cling to any hanging feeder. They will use a nest box on a tree or fence.

3

The male blackbird is familiar to everyone. In the garden blackbirds feed predominantly on soil invertebrates including earthworms, so a garden with flower beds and lawns will particularly attract them.

4

The Great Tit is another familiar bird in gardens. Boldly marked in black, yellow and blue, this adaptable bird enjoys our gardens for feeding and breeding, when a hole-fronted nest box will be readily used. Great tits are largely insect feeders.

Chaffinches, the male with his pink breast and slate blue head, spend much of their time feeding on the ground under seed feeders. They feed on insects and small seeds and build mossy nests in hedges.

Road cash set to improve county

BY LAWRENCE JOHN
lawrence.john@hpnorthants.co.uk

Northamptonshire's roads are set to benefit from millions of pounds of investment.

The announcement is part of a wider package of £15bn of investments in the region's highway.

The strategy states funding for East Northamptonshire includes: dualling of the A45 to the A14; improvements to the Chowns Mill roundabout on the A45 and A6 including segregated lanes and signalling and additional carriage-ways at A45/A6 junction at Higham Ferrers

The new cash will provide vital funding towards the cost of a new A14 junction, 10A.

It signals the importance the government and Department of Highways places on a strategic road network that facilitates development and growth.

Kettering Borough Council has been lobbying hard with partners from both the public and private sector for a number of years for an additional junction on the A14.

The new junction, once built, will provide a vital link to new housing, education and business employment developments in the area.

- Another road set for improvement but not part of this scheme is the A43 Moulton bypass. The one-mile long dual-carriageway will link the Round Spinney roundabout. Plans go on show next week to give people a chance to see the proposals.

It is expected that a formal planning application for the £18.75million project will be submitted early in January 2015.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Trevor Skidmore feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service the Northampton, Kettering, Wellingborough & Corby areas and Trevor is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Trevor a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

A CLEAR MESSAGE: Officers are urging drivers not to drink and drive this Christmas

Clampdown on drink driving

BY NICHOLAS BIEBER
nicholas.bieber@nhpnorthants.co.uk

Northamptonshire Police has launched its festive drink driving campaign in a bid to raise awareness of the dangers of driving after consuming alcohol at Christmas events.

This year marks the 50th anniversary of the national campaign against drink-driving, and from this week officers across the county will be conducting random breath tests on drivers throughout the festive season.

Last year, 1,079 motorists were arrested for being over the limit, with 161 of them being in December during the operation. In 2012, 1,190 were arrested for drink driving and 128 of them were arrested during the operation.

These figures show a yearly drop in arrests for drink-driving, something which Sergeant Tony Hopkins, who is leading the operation in Northamptonshire, hopes means people are getting the message.

He said: "There figures have been coming down for last four years now, so hopefully this means the message is getting out there and that people are realising how dangerous it is.

The operation was launched on Monday on Bedford Road near Northampton town centre, where officers conducted breath tests on 50 random motorists. None of the drivers stopped were found to be over the limit.

Sgt Hopkins added: "There will be a lot of officers out on the roads doing these kind of tests during December because we want to make sure people are thinking about the dangers of drink-driving and not doing it."

Greyhounds to race at Towcester

Sporting history will be made on Saturday when greyhounds race at Towcester Racecourse for the first time.

Horses have raced at Towcester since 1876 but never before has horse and greyhound racing taken place at the same venue in the UK.

This new £1.8m greyhound circuit is the first to open in the UK for 19 years. It is capable of featuring eight dog races.

The first greyhounds will come racing out of the traps at 7.40pm on Saturday with the official opening a week later on Saturday December 13.

Kevin Ackerman, chief executive of Towcester

Racecourse, said: "It's a very exciting time. It's been years in the planning and six months of building.

"Now we are moments away from the first competitive race on the track. I can't wait to see a full house raising the roof as the greyhounds come out of the traps."

Time trials have been taking place ever since Towcester was granted its official licence by the Greyhound Board of Great Britain on November 18.

Greyhounds have been going round in less than 30 seconds, over the mid-range 460m distance. The track itself measures 420m.

Final trials have been taking place this week under the state-of-the-art LED floodlighting that has been installed at the track.

The only other sporting venue in the country to boast such lighting is Stamford Bridge.

Greyhound racing will take place every Friday and Saturday night throughout the year. admission is free.

Police increase patrols on estate

BY LAWRENCE JOHN
lawrence.john@hpnorthants.co.uk

Police patrols are being increased in Wellingborough following an increase in criminal damage.

The crime hotspot in the town is on the Redwell Estate.

The decision was taken by police to step up patrols after a spate of incidents involving criminal damage to vehicles.

Eighteen incidents were reported to police of criminal damage which took place last week on the estate between Tuesday, November 25 and Friday, November 28.

The incidents all happened between 10pm and 10.30pm, and most involved wing mirrors being broken off.

As a result Northamptonshire Police are advising people to live on the estate or who are visiting to see friends or family to leave their vehicles in a garage if they have one or if not, to park in a well-lit, open place.

They are also suggesting people tuck in wing mirrors and put aerials down to discourage vandalism to their vehicles when parked.

Officers patrolling the estate will be making full use of their dispersal powers, where appropriate.

A police spokesperson said: "We would like to speak to anyone who may have any information about these incidents which took place last week.

"We have increased our patrols in the area and are asking people to remain vigilant to anyone acting suspiciously near cars and vans.

"If anyone has information about these incidents, or spots people acting suspiciously near vehicles, they can call police on 101 or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555111."

Rob Hart from Hart Brewery must have his tawny port the perfect festive drink. Great with stilton, whilst crunching on some nuts and a wonderful accompaniment to Christmas pudding - usually a very difficult wine match. A CHANCE OF SNOW ON CHRISTMAS DAY

Jamie Dunlop

Jamie Dunlop is our weather blogger. He lives in Northampton and works for Cotters Insurance.

Well Northamptonshire, we're into the last month of 2014 and the first month of meteorological winter 2014/2015.

So how's the weather shaping up during the next few days?

Today looks to be dry again and although there maybe some brighter spells there will be a fair amount of cloud. It will feel cold though with highs reaching 5c or so.

Into Friday we may well see a frost first thing followed by a mostly dry day with some sunny spells. There is a risk of a few showers arriving late in the day. Highs of 6c so again a chilly feel to the day.

At the moment the weekend ahead is set fair with frosts by morning and sunny spells by day.

@Netweather on Twitter updated their Christmas Day forecast yesterday.

The previous update gave the midlands a 20% chance of snow on December 25th but this was increased to 25% yesterday.

You will recall that last winter we saw several spells of wet and windy weather cross the county as the Jet stream sent low pressure after low pressure over us.

This winter may be more typical of a British winter. Several weather websites have indicated that there will be spells of mild weather interspersed with colder spells including frost, fog and snow.

Most forecasters have indicated there's a reasonable chance most of the country will see some snow at some point over the next 3 months so we will see how this pans out.

After last winters snowless winter in the county I'm sure there are some of you who would like to see some seasonal scenes this winter.

ON THE BUSES: Ed Miliband targets public transport

Ed Miliband was right about need to improve bus services in county

Has Mr Miliband been looking at the quaint bus service from Towcester to Northampton and Milton Keynes?

The two main buses, one from No8 in Silverstone and the other from Milton Keynes arrive in Towcester within 10 minutes of each other, which means a 50 minute wait for the next bus if on the later bus, whereas originally they planned to arrive in Towcester within 30 minutes of each other, giving the town a half an hour service to Northampton. The 20 minute journey to Milton Keynes has been altered to include Deanshanger making the journey time 1 hour and 10 minutes, where previously going via Cosgrove it had been 50 minutes. Perhaps this is a cunning plan on behalf of Northampton to persuade more shoppers to prefer to shop in their town. Furthermore, Towcester people once had the option of a through bus to Oxford taking around 1 hour, but it was decided that it would be cheaper to change in Silverstone on to a cheaper bus. Unfortunately this bus proved unreliable and people were left stranded. The result? No direct link to Oxford.

I think Mr Miliband has a point.

I understand how Lauren Eley's family are feeling

I have every heart felt feelings for Lauren Eley's family in their loss.

I went through the same when my son Dean Knight was found dying on his drive 8 yrs ago. 3 people were arrested and on being interviewed they just said no comment to all police questions. CPS decided not enough evidence to charge even though officer in charge told me he was 99.9% certain they were responsible.

We were deserted by the police liaison officer before the inquest we felt let down as we had no idea how a inquest operated. the result of inquest was open verdict.

We keep on trying to get people to come forward with information as we know the truth is out there.

Northampton town centre is dirty and dismal

Just to say how a thoroughly agree with everything that John and Patricia said in their e-mail regarding Northampton Town. I only go into Town if I really have to, it is dirty and dismal.

I don't know what visitors to the town must think! It is about time the Council did some cleaning instead of wasting money on things not important to the general public.

I think it is one of the dirtiest towns I have visited and I have visited a lot including abroad such as Barcelona, Rome, Prague all very clean and welcoming.

Disgusted, Reluctant Town User.

Tributes to Phil Hughes

BY NICHOLAS BIEBER
nicholas.bieber@hpnorthants.co.uk

Northants cricketers have paid a heartfelt tribute to Australian Test batsman Phil Hughes, who died on Thursday after being hit on the neck by a bouncer while playing for South Australia.

The 25-year-old passed away in the morning, having never regained consciousness after being struck on the top of the neck by a short-pitched delivery from New South Wales bowler Sean Abbott during a match last Tuesday at the Sydney Cricket Ground.

Hughes was given mouth-to-mouth resuscitation on the pitch before being rushed to hospital for emergency surgery, but he never recovered.

Northants players, both past and present, have since taken to Twitter to pay tribute to Hughes.

Captain Alex Wakely said: "I am shocked. Life is cruel. My thoughts and prayers are with all the Hughes family and friends.

"We just go to work, put on our kit and don't think about it. Things like this make you think."

All-rounder David Willey said: "Awful news regarding the loss of cricketer Phil Hughes.

"Thoughts are with his friends and family at such a tragic time and, of course, Sean Abbott."

Former Northants captain and England player Allan Lamb said: "Very sad news about Phil Hughes' freak accident.

"My thoughts go to his family, and the cricket world will miss you.

"Our also go to Sean Abbott - he'll be devastated and has to battle through bad times."

Graeme Swann, the former Northants and England player, who also played against Hughes in the recent Ashes series, said: "I just can't get to grips with the tragic news about Philip Hughes today.

"A great lad taken far too soon. RIP."

FEEL GOOD FACTOR

Hints and tips on good exercise and good eating supported by Trilogy Gym

BODY BUILD:

One of the biggest misconceptions I and many other instructors and personal trainers encounter on a near daily basis is - will a woman leave the gym looking like a competitive body-builder if they follow an exercise regime based on weight lifting and resistance exercises? The simple answer is no.

Bodybuilding is a grey subject area amongst the fitness community. A low proportion of gyms are built to cater for this small section of gym goers and there is still a negative stigma attached to their art and their form of radical aesthetics based transformation. We perceive bodybuilding as an extreme and obsessive variation of exercise with no functional or practical end product. Whilst science provides evidence that this is fact, we have evolved over an extensive period of time and have become complex in our thought processes and our beliefs in what we perceive to be the perfect human image. Modern media showcases examples of how we think we should look. Pictures are enhanced and edited to make branding more effective and believable. We compare ourselves to certain images and more often than not become fixated on a particular individual based on their appearance and physique. Social acceptance in the 21st century revolves around appearance and for a lot of women it influences them to change the way they look. In recent years "Weight Loss" and "Toning" have become the main topics of conversation and as an experienced instructor I have only ever encountered a small selection of women who have asked me for advice with no relevance to these topics. I often find myself arguing amongst colleagues and other instructors over the subject of toning. My personal opinion of the term toning is that it should not be used as a term to define an exercise goal and that it should be removed from the English language. We as humans are capable of weight loss, muscle building and maintenance. To create an image of a defined, well-proportioned physique we must strip any excess fat around the muscle through a strict diet and well balanced exercise routine. For women does this mean that they should stay away from resistance and bodyweight exercises? Again no. Ladies, using bodybuilding and strength techniques and exercises will not make you look like Arnold Schwarzenegger. Increasing your bodyweight by adding lean muscle is scientifically proven to speed up your metabolism, resulting in weight loss goals you wouldn't dare to dream of. For every extra pound of muscle your body will need to burn an extra 35 to 50 calories. Many celebrities and fitness models we see in the media will have used techniques and exercises bodybuilders have been perfecting and utilising for more than 50 years. So the next time you are in the gym or decide that in the New Year your main goal is to wave goodbye to those extra seasonal pounds speak to your instructors and ask them to produce you a weight loss routine with some resistance and bodyweight exercises. Believe me you will not be disappointed.

Christmas... don't fight it

H&P Editor Steve Scoles continues on his quest for fitness and health

December is the cruellest month.

This is where it all falls apart fellow nut and berry lovers.

I've been working hard in the gym over the summer and autumn. I trained myself off most of the bad foods.

I've accepted that overall, you can't punish yourself too much for the odd blowout here and there.

Go for another bike ride. Have a couple of strict days of muesli and noodle salads.

But in December everything closes in on you at once.

You get winter weather, you get delicious tempting carbohydrates, you get national holidays and you are obliged to honour your sociable ape genes by going to parties.

Your fitter more active body is calling for more of everything and December arrives right on time with its sleigh full of sins. I think you can tell at this point I am not working towards one of those 'true meaning of Christmas' columns.

Yes it's a magical time but it is also going to play havoc with your fitness regime.

The advice from my trainer Martin is not to fight it.

Enjoy your Christmas, let it do its worst and then get back on the (pommel) horse in January.

As Martin says: "Fitness is a journey..."

Shoppers battle in

BY NICHOLAS BIEBER

nicholas.bieber@hpnorthants.co.uk

Hundreds of bargain-hungry shoppers piled into a Northampton supermarket at midnight on November 28 for the start of Black Friday.

Crowds packed into Tesco Extra in Weston Favell Shopping Centre - which is open 24 hours - for the store's launch event which began at 12.01am.

Tesco - who, as well as Weston Favell, has another supermarket in Mereway - was offering electrical deals to customers in-store and online.

Online shoppers had less luck however, as the supermarket's main website crashed minutes after the launch began.

At the store in Weston Favell, all the goods were snapped up within minutes, leaving hundreds of shoppers waiting by the storage room door for more stock to be brought out by staff.

Everything seemed to have gone well, and the first few minutes passed without incident.

However, it turned out to be the calm before the storm.

As each roll cage was brought out by staff, piled with electricals at knock down prices (sample prices listed in the factbox next to this story), shoppers suddenly showed their determination not to miss out on the bargains.

Dozens of people scrambled over each other desperately trying to get their hands on the items and there was some pushing and shoving.

This led to a few scuffles.

At one point, an elderly man had picked up a plasma screen TV that was on offer, when a young man came along and tried to snatch it out of his hands. The younger man repeatedly pushed the elderly man.

Fortunately, customers and a staff member intervened, and the elderly man was able to take the TV away.

enough to become profitable for the year: getting out of the red and into the black. Another states that it's tied into the financial crisis of 1869, when the US gold market collapsed.

The real origin though seems to be the Philadelphia police force, who were so fed up with the chaos of traffic jams caused by shoppers they christened the day 'Black Friday'.

The chaos has now spread across Europe.

One staff member who saw the scuffle described it as 'disgusting'.

However, this incident is just one example of something that was happening at stores all over the country.

Black Friday is a craze which started in America, falling on the day after Thanksgiving each year.

Retailers offer massive discounts to persuade shoppers to spend their cash in the run-up to Christmas.

There are numerous urban legends surrounding the actual name itself, and it seems no one is 100 per cent about where it came from.

One theory goes that this is the day on which shops sell

Welcome. . .

What's the first thing you should do when you want to move? Sit down.

It sounds like I'm talking in riddles but it's really very simple. Sit down with your Herald and Post property supplement and see what's out there.

You'll do a lot of research whether you are buying or selling so make sure you start with the newspaper with the biggest circulation in the county. And in these pages you'll find not just an amazing array of expertise in the businesses that advertise here but some of the nicest people you could hope to meet along the way. Why shouldn't they be? A new home is a big dream for some, a smaller dream for others but when the keys are handed over it's always a dream come true. Good luck with your search, you're starting in the right place...

WHAT'S ON ROUND-UP

Merlin will cast his magic spell at Xmas

BY LAWRENCE JOHN
lawrencejohn@hpnorthants.co.uk

This Christmas the Royal stage is transformed into the mythical world of Camelot and Arthurian legends, with the world premiere of Ella Hickson's Merlin.

A co-production with Nuffield, Southampton, this delightful family show brings Royal & Derngate's Made In Northampton 2014 season to a festive conclusion.

From the writer of the Royal Shakespeare Company's 2013 Christmas show, Wendy and Peter Pan, Ella Hickson's magical new take on Merlin sees three childhood friends embark on an action-packed adventure. For Prince Arthur, turning sixteen means becoming a knight, but he is torn between a duty to his country and to his friends. His young squire Merlin is struggling to keep his extraordinary magic powers under control and the gutsy Princess Gwen proves that she might just be the bravest of them all.

Featuring some extraordinary and hilarious characters, this world premiere production tells the story behind one of the most famous legends of all time, combining exquisite and laugh-out-loud storytelling with atmospheric new music. Merlin can be seen at Royal & Derngate, Northampton until January 4. Tickets from £9.50 to £24 can be booked by calling Box Office on 01604 624811 or online at www.royaland-derngate.co.uk

There's more than a faint whiff of Saturday night telly about the Royal's Christmas show Merlin.

The story is being pitched somewhere around the level of the television version - scary enough in places but with more than a nod and a wink to modern sensibilities.

It's a rights of passage tale. Will Merrick's redhead Merlin is Harry Potter style uncomfortable with his powers, James Clay's Arthur is heroic but weighed down with the responsibility of being the most eligible boy in town and Francesca Zoutewelle's Gwen is actually a convincingly feisty Queen in waiting.

And there are plenty of laughs to be had in Merlin, thanks especially to Tom Giles' excellent turn as Garotte, Charlotte Mills' hilariously clumpy Princess Scintillata and Katherine Toy's various cameo moments.

Fergus O'Donnell is rock solid as both kings.

- Emissions: 109g/km
- 0-62mph 8.2s
- Max speed 129mph
- 60.1mpg (combined)

It's time to get used to the idea of a MINI Hatch with five doors. With this bodystyle, you get a longer wheelbase, quite a lot more luggage space and potentially room for three people in the back. On top of this, there's the third generation MINI model's sophisticated design with underpinnings better suited to longer journeys. Oh and a range of punchy but economical engines. You wanted more MINI? Well you've certainly got it now. Here, we're trying the perky 136bhp petrol Cooper model. Can a bigger MINI really feel like a proper MINI should? Fun, frisky - up for anything? The brand's Countryman crossover model tried hard in that regard but was a little too heavy to quite hit the mark. This time round though, buyers get the extra doors and at least some of the extra practicality they were seeking without any dynamic downsides.

MOTORSPORT: Sixteen-year-old Weedon based kart racing driver Ronan McKenzie has been crowned the 2014 Stars at Whilton Mill 125cc Junior Rotax Champion.

"I can't believe we did it," he said after his victory. "I'm so pleased that it all came together and I've won the championship."

"I've had some tough races over the year and my dad did a great job with the kart, and I have to thank our sponsor PIL Gritblast, because without them I wouldn't have raced this year at all."

McKenzie's dad Jason, who is also his mechanic, added: "This is a brilliant result for us after a couple of years with problems out of our control."

"Ronan has always been a talented driver and he has proved this again with his fourth Championship of his karting career. As of yet Ronan does not have a drive for next year, so this could be his last competition – if that is the case it will have been fantastic to finish on such a high."

ATHLETICS: Rugby & Northampton Athletic Club's men are celebrating after they took the Northamptonshire Athletics Association County Masters title for the ninth time at the Charity Cup in Kettering on Saturday.

Brendan Moen produced a fantastic run to earn himself third place when he crossed the line after 38 minutes and 40 seconds, just over a minute behind the winner – Kettering's Matt Fowler. Moen's team-mates Vincent Carroll (40.18), Neil Willsher (41.10), and Stephen Dixon (41.37) soon joined him over the finish line, with their respective positions of 10th, 11th and 12th handing R&N the gold once more. There was more team success as the U11 and U13 girls stormed to victory.

BOXING: Aaron Fail from Far Cotton ABC beat Tyler Straten from Ardwick in the quarter finals of the national ten fights and under competition.

The youngster won by unanimous decision and has made it through to the semi-finals in Derby this weekend.

SAILING: Laser sailor Simon Cray won all three races on day five of the Frostbite Series at Hollowell, racing well in a fresh north westerly breeze with moderate gusts.

He said: "That was a good day of sailing with the wind almost straight down the reservoir. I definitely enjoyed myself today."

With just two more days of this Series to run, Keith Lancaster still leads overall.

However both Simon Cray and Rob Dunkley are making up ground.

Saints must learn lessons from Racing on Italian job

SAINTS

BY CIARAN THOMAS
sport@nmedia.co.uk

Alan Dickens hopes Northampton Saints will learn the lessons from their defeat to Racing Metro as they return to European action this Saturday, travelling to Italy to face Benetton Treviso.

Saints lost 20-11 to Racing in their opening European Champions Cup clash in Paris back in October, and now face Treviso in back-to-back games, knowing only two wins will keep them on track for qualification to the quarter finals.

The Italians are the bottom seeds in pool five and Saints, after winning their second group clash at home to Ospreys, will be expected to be too strong for a side who have been beaten in both of their European outings and are currently at the foot of the Guinness Pro 12 without a win all season.

However, assistant coach Dickens believe Saints will need to put in a professional performance to avoid falling to a second defeat on the continent when they head to the Stadio Monigo this weekend.

"Every time we take the field, whether we win, lose or draw, we want to take lessons from the game," he said. "Playing away in Europe has its different challenges and hopefully we've learnt from the mistakes we made in Paris."

"You look at them [Treviso], and they've not been in the best of form but in the last couple of weeks they pushed Cardiff close and drew with Leinster so they're a team that like to play rugby."

"They'll be tough at home. I think Racing Metro found that in an earlier round, but we need to go there and we need to be on our game if we want to win. We'll have our heads on and we need to be professional."

George Pisi could return to the squad following his recovery from a hamstring injury, although wing George North is a doubt after suffering a concussion in Wales' defeat to New Zealand.

The Saints also welcome back their England internationals, giving the coaching staff plenty of options, but Dickens said they will take the long term view when it comes to selection.

"With the concussion protocol, he [North] has to pass each stage before he moves onto the next one so he's touch and go," he said.

"George Pisi's doing well. He's trained last week, he's been in full training this week and he's in the mix."

"It's always difficult in terms of the team we select but we've always got to realise we're working to get through the season to put ourselves in the best possible position at the end."

Saints returned to the top of the Premiership table with a 43-14 win at winless basement boys London Welsh on Sunday.

There were seven different try scorers for the English champions but director of rugby Jim Mallinder still believes that his side had been subject to a tough test.

"It was very satisfying. You've got to enjoy every win you have," he said. "We had to work hard in the first half, but the forwards got on top particularly in the maul and gave us a cushion."

ON THE WAY BACK: Lawson D'Ath is among the Cobblers players on the recovery road.

Week off allows walking wounded recovery time

COBBLERS

BY CIARAN THOMAS
sport@lsnmedia.co.uk

Cobblers boss Chris Wilder is hoping to have up to five players back from injury in time for Northampton Town's next League Two match against Plymouth Argyle a week on Saturday.

Centre halves Zander Diamond and Ryan Cresswell are among the players expected to feature in an upcoming reserve game, along with Lawson D'Ath, Evan Horwood and Lewis Hornby.

Joel Byrom and Stewart Murdoch were forced off during Saturday's 2-0 defeat at Southend, but both are expected to recover, although Byrom faces a one game suspension after picking up a fifth yellow card.

The Cobblers are without a match on Saturday following their exit from the FA Cup, and Wilder believes he will have a stronger squad to pick from for the visit of the Pilgrims.

"With the amount of players we've had out injured, to come back into the Plymouth game we can't afford any more injuries and hopefully we'll have four or five players back," he said.

"Joel got smashed around the neck but he'll be okay, he's not training this week but I should imagine the next time he's available he'll be okay and we're hoping Stewart Murdoch should be okay for the Plymouth game.

"We have arranged a reserve game, in which there will be a big chunk of players coming back, as well as the lads that haven't played much football recently. We'll have a strong reserve team which is all good.

"We're looking forward to them coming back and it's right that they come back and put loads of pressure on the players that are playing and we need that competition."

Ian Morris is set to miss the rest of the season however, after Wilder revealed the midfielder had suffered a set-back in his recovery from a knee injury and required another operation.

The Irishman twisted his knee during training in August and faces a long spell on the sidelines. "I think we've missed him," Wilder added.

"He's a versatile player, especially in the shape we played on Saturday. He's excellent in that and plays in a number of positions.

"Last year he played a big part in us getting the results we needed.

"He's a good lad to have about the place and an important member of the squad so to lose him is a blow."

Wilson rues missed UK chance in York

SNOOKER

Kettering potter Kyren Wilson was left wondering what could have been after a second round exit at the UK Snooker Championship.

Wilson went down 6-5 to defending champion and world number two Neil Robertson at the York Barbican on Sunday, but had his chance to record the second major upset in the tournament after world champion Mark Selby was knocked out the day before.

The 22-year-old took the initiative with an 87 break in frame nine to go 5-4 up, and came within three balls of an unlikely victory in the next.

But Wilson's poor positional shot off the green cannoned into the black, leaving the door open for the Australian to clear up and then record an 86 in the decider to seal the victory.

"I'm disappointed with that," he said. "Neil certainly didn't play as well as he can and the same goes for me really, so it's nice that I pushed him all the way to 6-5.

"But at 5-4 you've got to take your chances, and if you don't take them you'll get punished and he had one visit in the decider. It's as simple as that, I wasn't good enough at the end.

"I wasn't nervous at all at 5-4 up as I'd potted a lot of good balls under pressure, and it's just one of those things.

"If I miss the black coming round for the brown off the green, it could have been 6-4 but that's the way it goes sometimes.

"He showed what a great champion he is. To be fair the balls split very nicely for him, but fair play he made a good break in the decider."

Wilson, who practises at Barratts Snooker Club in Northampton, has just climbed into the world's top 64 for the first time this year but admits he still prefers being the underdog on the main stage.

And Wilson insisted he would be taking positives away from York after a 6-5 opening round victory over Gary Wilson, despite letting a golden opportunity slip through his fingers.

"It's nice to be able to compete with the top boys at the highest level now on the BBC," he added.

"So I've got a lot of positives to take away with the win I have had here. It's not been a great season so far and hopefully I can use this as a springboard to go on and achieve better things."

Wellingborough potter Rory McLeod exited in the third round, losing 6-4 to Matthew Selt.

Toney to be protected after Wolves collapse

COBBLERS

BY CIARAN THOMAS
sport@lsmmedia.co.uk

Chris Wilder has backed Ivan Toney to continue his impressive form for Northampton Town, despite his move to Wolverhampton Wanderers collapsing last week.

Toney had been expected to complete a deal to join the Championship side for a club record fee, and the 18-year old discussed personal terms with the Midlands outfit before the deal fell through on Thursday.

Town boss Wilder kept the 18-year-old on the bench for the Cobblers' 2-0 defeat at Southend on Saturday but the manager expects the striker to be able to regain his focus following a busy few days.

"It was a difficult week for Ivan, he was virtually up the road and signed," said Wilder. "There was a few things that resulted in the deal not going through and that's the case with every deal, everything's got to happen and obviously it didn't."

"So Ivan's back with us. We'll talk to Ivan and get his head down and get back into the football, he's done ever so well for us in his short career here at Northampton and when he's available and gets himself going he's an asset to us."

"He's fit and ready to go, it was a tough situation for any boy and a busy 48 hours."

"The majority of the week the deal was going through, but obviously it didn't and we move on."

Although Toney remains a Northampton Town player for now the striker, who has scored six goals this season, is likely to be in demand once again when the transfer window opens at the start of January.

Wilder admitted he expects the youngster to attract plenty of interest from a number of clubs but said it was important that he doesn't get distracted over the upcoming weeks.

"He comes back to us and no doubt if he carries on the way he has done, his goals and performances have attracted not just Wolves but a lot of other clubs and I should imagine there will be a lot of interest still," he said.

"It's important Ivan keeps his feet on the ground and keeps working, we'll keep tabs on him. It's important you let the football do the talking and he'll know that."

Reports were made that Toney failed a medical at Wolves but that hasn't been confirmed by either club.

Wolves boss Kenny Jackett said: "There's a number of things, but it didn't come off. The exact nature of it has to stay confidential, but the interest isn't there now."

"We wish the player all the best and we move on. I wouldn't say the door is completely closed but he won't be coming in this time."

The Cobblers had earlier revealed that they had turned down an offer from an unnamed Championship club for Toney – with Wolves then returning with a bigger and better offer.

Had it been signed and sealed, Toney would have cost more than the previous record sale for Northampton – goalkeeper Mark Bunn who left for Blackburn in 2008 for more than £500,000.

The teenager would have left initially on loan before signing permanently after the opening of the January window.

Ripley not in the market for many

Northamptonshire coach David Ripley said he is still working on adding a couple of new faces to his squad, but doesn't expect many further incomings ahead of next summer.

Ripley's squad saw a number of departures at the end of the 2014 season, with senior players Andrew Hall and James Middlebrook released and Matt Spriegel and James Kettleborough also leaving Wantage Road.

Veteran David Sales retired and batsman Josh Cobb and all-rounder Adam Rossington are currently the only new signings so far, with rumours suggesting South African blaster Richard Levi could return to play in all competitions. Ripley, however, doesn't expect to reveal anything until the New Year.

The boss will be looking to oversee a reversal of fortunes in 2015 after relegation from Division One of the County Championship and failure to make progress in both of the limited overs competitions this year.

"We've got a couple of things in the pipeline that we've got to hold onto in the short term," he said. "A couple of things we're pleased about but we can't say any more about that until the New Year."

"I don't think we're looking to do too much more, possibly if we can get some extra finance we might look at a second t20 player but that'll be us really, if we can find some cash that'll be our only thing we've got to do."

The club saw a major change last month with the departure of chief executive David Smith, with Ray Payne now taking on the role for an interim period.

Smith worked closely with Ripley, overseeing the cricketing operations, and the coach said he would miss that contact.

"We'll miss David on the cricket side of it," said Ripley. "Personally he was always good to debate things with, he had cricket knowledge and we debated things pretty much on a daily basis."

Northants will open the new four day season against Gloucestershire.
